Yom Kippur Eve & Morn

קולות Voices

We begin tonight, by tradition the holiest night of the year, with Jewish voices of resilience and Torah. Among both riches and struggles, days of horror and nights of peace, our people has succeeded like few others. We've thrived and survived - both physically and spiritually - through it all. Let's celebrate that great miracle of our people's faith.

By The Fireside עויפן פריפעמשיק

Oy-fen pri-pe-tshok, brent a fai-yerl, un in shtub iz heis, Un der rebbe lernt klei-ne kin-der-lach, dem Alef-Beis.

Zeh-tzhe kin-der-lach, ge-denkt tzhe tai-ye-reh, vos ihr lernt doh, Zog-tzhe noch a-mol, un ta-keh noch a-mol: Koh-mets A-lef: "aw."

By the fireside, where the embers glow, in a cozy place, There the rebbe with the kleine kinderlach (children) chant the Alef-Beis.

Learn your lessons well, O my little ones, letters of God's law. Chant this once again and yet once again: Koh-mets A-lef: "aw."

When you grow older then, O my little ones, you will come to know: How many dreams, how many promises, in these letters glow.

> Words and Music: M.M. Warshawsky; English Adaptation: Ari Fridkis

Evening

We would assemble in the darkness. To light a candle there, or even a match, would have brought immediate disaster upon us. We spoke about matters of the spirit and eternal questions, about God, about Jews around the world, about the eternity of Israel. In the midst of the darkness I sensed light in the unlit room: the light of Torah.

Rabbi Leo Baeck

Vows & Promises נְדְרָנָא וֶאֱסָרְנָא

I am a flawed individual. Just like you and every man or woman on the planet. That is what makes us human. According to Midrashic lore, God created another world before our own. But it was destroyed, for the Holy One had forgotten one thing: the ability to change, to do Teshuva - to forgive and be forgiven..

As I forgive those who have wronged me, may the many I have angered and hurt, harmed or wronged, be that of body or soul, honor or property, whether I was forced or did so willingly, deliberately or inadvertently by accident or intent, by word or by deed. May each understand I too am human May no person feel guilty on my account.

Traditional Jewish Confessional, adaptation: AF

Evening

All the Vows on Our Lips

All the vows on our lips, the burden in our hearts, the pent-up regrets about which we brooded and spoke through prayers without end on last Atonement Day, did not change our way of life, did not bring about deliverance.

From mountains peaks of fervor we fell to old ways at the close of the fast. Will You hear our regret? Will You open our prison, release us from habit? Will You accept our prayers, forgive our wrongs, though sin again and again?

In moments of weakness, we forget the promises of last Yom Kippur. Recall that we easily forget, take only our intent. Forgive us, pardon us.

Kol Nidre כָּל נְדַרֵי

By the decree of the heavenly court and with the authority of the earthly courts, with the permission of God the Ever-Present, and the permission of this congregation, we who have ourselves transgressed declare it lawful to pray with others.

Those who have wronged either God or human beings: the keeper of Shabbat who, by her silence, allowed gossip to flourish among her associates, consents to pray with the supporter of the oppressed who neglected his family. The one who gave tzedakah but cheated at work, consents to pray with the one who worked hard for Israel but exploited his friend.

Joined in the recognition of our own failings we pledge to pray both for ourselves and for the others around us who have fallen short. B'nai Brith Hillel, On Wings of Awe

Our House of Life

If you wish to know the fortress to which your fathers bore their treasure, their scrolls of Torah, their Holy of Holies; if you would know the place of their deliverance; if you would find the refuge which kept your people's mighty spirit safe, whose age – despite years of degradation – did not disgrace its gracious youth.

Then turn to the ancient, battered house of prayer. There, to this day, your eyes may see Jews with faces lean and lined, Jews of the Exile, bearing the scrolls' heavy weight, forgetting their toil in a Talmud's tattered page, their cares in chanted Psalms. How drab and strange a sight to those who do not understand!

So listen carefully as you visit, as your feet touch the threshold of our house of life their prayers and voices will tell you: that God's spirit remains!

And if a spark of hope for better days illumines the darkness in which you dwell, mark well and hearken, my sister and brother: this house of prayer is itself but a spark, a remnant saved by a miracle, from the great fire kept by our fathers, always, upon their altars.

Who can say? Did not the torrents of their tears carry us safely to this shore?! Perhaps their prayers were the price of our salvation. And was it not their deaths that bequeathed us life, life enduring, life without end? Chaim Stern, CCAR, Gates of Repentance

Shema Yisrael שִׁמַע יִשִּׂרָאֵל

... from the Kingdom of Night

In the barracks, several hundred Jews gathered to celebrate Simhat Torah... But there was no Sefer Torah. So how could they organize the ritual hakafot - the traditional processions - without the sacred scrolls? As they were trying to solve the problem, an old man ... Old? The word had no meaning there... An old man noticed a young boy - who was so, so old - standing there, looking on, dreaming. "Do you remember what you learned?" asked the old man. "Yes, I do," replied the young boy. "Really?" said the old man, "you really remember Shema Visrael?" "I remember much more," said the young boy. "Shema Yisrael is enough" said the old man. And he lifted the boy from the ground and began dancing with him as if he were the Torah! And all joined in: they all sang and danced and cried. They cried, but they sang with fervor: never before had Jews celebrated Simhat Torah with such fervor.

מי כָמֹכָה Shores of Freedom's Sea

Not without suffering did we win our way through the deadly waters to the shore of refuge and new life. The oppressor's fury grows as his grip begins to weaken. In his rage he pursues us, even to his own destruction.

In his drowning, part of us is lost as well. The remnant sings songs, yet a sadness remains. So many must die, slave and master alike, before a few can sing.

CCAR, Gates of Prayer

Our lives too are difficult. We are pursued by ideals and our imperfections. We too must choose between life and death, between slavery and freedom. We sway between listening for hope and succumbing to anguish and despair, the death of our spirit.

But we are not abandoned nor alone. We search the distant past and our own days and find the courage to enter our struggles, to wrestle with the Pharaohs in our hearts and those in the world around us, and to slowly free ourselves from bondage. We are companions who help each other rise from the dust.

Rabbi Burt Jacobson, adapted

From Egypt, the house of bondage, we were delivered. At Sinai, amid peels of thunder, we bound ourselves to the Torah. Inspired by prophets and instructed by sages, we survived oppression and exile, time and again overcoming the forces that would destroy us.

מחזור לימים נוראים

After the long nights, after the days and years when our ashes blackened the sky, it remains our privilege to bear witness to this Exodus, and to keep alive in both light and dark ages the vision of a world redeemed.

CCAR, Gates of Prayer

From age to age the tale has been told, how Moses and Miriam brought us forth from Egypt. Commanding staff and timbrel, they led us out from slavery to freedom and from narrow-mindedness to Torah. So we too raise our voices together in song, just as yesterday, the Children of Israel sang at the shores of freedom's sea:

> מִי כָמְכָה בָּאֵלִם יְיָ? מִי כָּמְכָה נָאְדָר בַּקְׂדָשׁ? נוֹרָא תְהִלֹת, עְׂשֵׂה פֵּלֶא?

מַלְכוּתָךּ רָאוּ בָנֶיְךּ, בּוֹקֵעַ יָם לִפְנֵי משה ״זֶה אֵלִי!״ עַנוּ וְאָמְרוּ: ״יְיָ יִמְלֹךְ לְעוֹלָם וָעֶר!״

Mi kha-mo-cha ba-ei-lim A-do-nai! Mi ka-mo-cha ne-dar ba-ko-desh! No-ra t'hi-lot o-seh fe-leh!

Mal-chu-t'cha ra-u va-ne-cha, bo-kei-a yam lif-nei Mo-she. "Zeh Ei-li!" a-nu v'am-ru: "A-do-nai yim-loch l'o-lam va-ed!"

Who is like You, Eternal One, among the gods who are worshipped? Who is like You, filled with goodness? Awesome in splendor, doing wonders?

In their escape from the sea, Your children saw Your Awesome Might. "This is my God!" they cried: "The Eternal shall reign for ever and ever!"

Standing at the parted shores of history we still believe what we were taught before ever we stood at Sinai's foot:

that wherever we go, it is eternally Egypt, that there is a better place, a promised land; that the winding way to that promise passes through the wilderness.

That there is no way to get from here to there except by joining hands, marching together.

Michael Walzer, adapted, CCAR, Mishkan T'filah

And Then וּבְכֵן

Chorus

U-v'chein, u-v'chein, and then, and then, when wholeness and peace are restored. U-v'chein, u-v'chein, and then, and then, remembering what all life is for.

In awe and afraid, taking stock of our days, healed by forgiveness and love, We pray a time will come as we return to the One, that we can become truly one.

Chorus

When reverence for life is the prayer that unites all people as one family. Remembering our light as a spark of the divine in our selves and all living beings.

Then, and then, just the sound of it gives wings to hope, lays fear to rest. To feel the open wings of possibility, and then, and then, imagine...

Chorus

L'dor Vador לְדוֹר וַדוֹר

We are gifts and we are blessings, We are history in song, We are hope and we are healing, We are learning to be strong.

We are words and we are stories, We are pictures of the past, We are carriers of wisdom, Not the first and not the last.

Chorus L'dor va-dor, na-gid god-le-cha, (Eng translation: "From generation to generation, we will tell of Your greatness") L'dor vador, we protect this chain From generation to generation, L'dor vador, these lips will praise Your name.

Looking back on the journey that we carry in our heart, From the shadow of the mountain to the waters that would part.

W are blessed and we are holy, We are children of Your way, And the words that bring us meaning, We will have the strength to say.

Chorus

Words and Music: Josh Nelson

If I Had Known

If I had known. What troubles you were bearing, What griefs were in the silence of your face, I would have been more gentle and more caring, And tried to give you gladness for a space. I would have brought more warmth into the place. If I had known.

If I had known. What thoughts despairing drew you -Why do we never understand? I would have lent a little friendship to you, And slipped my hand within your lonely hand, And made you stay more pleasant in the land, If I had known.

Prayers of the Heart כַּוְוּנוֹת הַלֵב

In this moment of silent communication a still, small voice beckons me: to pursue my life's work with full attention though no eye is upon me; to be gentle in the face of ingratitude, even when slander distorts my nobler impulses; to meet the end of the day with the certainty that I've used my gifts well and with dignity. Like my ancestors who entered the sea not knowing, let me become even braver, facing life's trials with distinction. May I live on in deeds that bless others, and offer the heritage of a good name.

CCAR, Mishkan T'filah

Of these things we are guilty: We have Answered in anger we have Broken our bargains we have Controlled others, but not ourselves we have Doubted our instincts we have Enforced our will gratuitously we have Freely wasted an abundance of resources we have Given too haughtily we have Hated too gladly we have Intruded too frequently we have Judged too hastily we have Kept far too many grudges we have Lied about so many things we have Manipulated needlessly we have Needlessly capitulated we have Offered up others as sacrifices we have Placed possessions over people we have Quickly turned toward resentment and quietly run from responsibility we have Reacted too readily, refused and been reluctant to remember others we have Slowly turned toward evil we have Twisted the truth too effortlessly we have Unnecessarily undertaken too much responsibility we have Vehemently violated all kinds of boundaries we have Wantonly wished the downfall of others we have been eXceedingly greedy we have frequently said Yes when we needed to say no we have far too frequently been Zealous when we might have been patient . . . We have Acquiesced when we might have Abstained... We have Criticized nearly everything when we might instead have Corrected ourselves... We have Waited to change our lives even though we wanted to, and wasted far too many opportunities for love and kindness... We have lacked Zeal to create a better world for ourselves, for our children, and for future generations. ... and we are clearly poorer for all of it. Ari Fridkis

Forgive Us: S'lach Lanu קלַת לְנוּ

Though we all have been hurt, though we all have hurt each other, Let us all forgive, let us all be forgiven.

Though we all have caused pain in our words to one another, Let us all forgive, let us all be forgiven.

Chorus S'lach la-nu, m'chal la-nu, ka-per la-nu.

Though we all have regret for the words that we have spoken, Let us all forgive, let us all be forgiven. Let now be the time to repair what has been broken, Let us all forgive, let us all be forgiven.

Chorus

Though we never can change all the times we've been mistaken, Let us all forgive, let us all be forgiven. Let us try to rebuild all the trust we have forsaken, Let us all forgive, let us all be forgiven.

Chorus

For the gates are always open.

Book of Life: Uncertainty

I wanted a perfect ending, So I sat down to write the book with the ending in place before there ever was an ending. Now I've learned the hard way, that some poems don't rhyme, and some stories don't have a clear beginning, middle and end. Like my life, this book has ambiguity. Like my life, this book is about not knowing, having to change, taking the moment and making the best of it, without knowing what's going to happen next.

Gilda Radner, It's Always Something

This is an hour of change. Within it we stand uncertain on the border of light. Shall we draw back or cross over? Where shall our hearts turn?

> This is the moment of change, and within it, we stand quietly, on the border of light. What lies before us?

> > Shall we draw back, my brother or sister, or cross over?

הלירה Torah

We mustn't forget how blessed we are to be back at synagogue once again. And like the generations that came before us, we are blessed with a magnificent privilege: watching the Torah taken from the Holy Ark to bear witness to the ancient Covenant.

... when the glorious Scroll of the Law is opened ...

How does one explain the magic in the eye of the beholder when the ancient dark letters on parchment appear? For generations of our people, the Torah was a source of strength and courage. To its stalwart, it was a "lamp" - a guidepost on life's journey. But to poet and mystic, Torah would forever be "a fountain of light!"

There is a legend that "In The Beginning," each Hebrew letter stood alone, merging only at the dawn of creation. Just as the letters congregate as living words – garlands of hope and meaning – we too take on new life as we gather close, finding enlightenment in Torah's wisdom. Only then is the Written Word uttered - and the Torah's radiance unfolds before us in all its splendor!

Ari Fridkis

The Torah is taken from the ark:

בּי מִצִּיּוֹן הֵצֵא תוֹרָה, וּדְבַר יְיָ מִירוּשָׁלָיָם.

Ki mi-tzi-yon te-tzei To-rah, u-d'var A-do-nai Mei-ru-sha-la-yim.

From out of Zion hall go forth the Torah - and the word of the One-Who-Is-All from Jerusalem.

Like the flame which rests atop the Holy Ark a symbol of the Great Light in the wilderness this Torah too is forever.

Within this Sanctuary, just as in the inner recesses of our hearts, You have set the ways of justice, love and peace. They too are forever.

And like You at the Bush, the flame which burns in us may flicker, but can never be spent.

That flame, Your ways of Justice, and this Torah were once Yours. Now they are ours! This Torah is Everything -And Everything is in It !!!

You inspired our people Israel to raise parts of ourselves and hold both Word and Light aloft. To minister to Truth, to become a Nation of Priests and a holy people: the very meaning of our existence!

Now, generations later, we descendants of Abraham, redeemed from slavery, stand here again at Sinai to receive this Torah.

The ancient promise is fulfilled! The ancient covenant affirmed! To bind all generations!

לום הַדִין Day of Judgement

Let us proclaim the sacred power of this day: It is awesome and full of dread! For on this day You reign as Judge and Arbiter, Counsel and Witness. You write and you seal, You record and recount. You remember deeds long forgotten. You open the book of our days, and what is written there proclaims itself, for it bears the signature of every human being!

יָשָׁמַע! וְקוֹל דְמָמָה דַקָּה יִשָּׁמַע! וְרְשׁוֹפָר גָּדוֹל יִתָּקַע!

The great Shofar is sounded! A still, small voice is heard! The angels, gripped by fear and trembling, declare in awe:

הַנָּה יוֹם הַדִּין! Today is the Day of Judgement!

For even the hosts of heaven are judged, as all who dwell on earth.

ּכְּבַקָּרַת רוֹעֶה עֶדְרוֹ, מַעֲבִיר צֹאנוֹ הַזְחַת שִׁבְטוֹ.

As the shepherd seeks out his flock, and makes the sheep pass under his staff, so do You muster and number and consider every soul, setting the bounds of every creature's life, and decreeing its destiny!

בְּרֹאשׁ הַשָּׁנָה יִכָּתֵבוּן, וּבְיוֹם צוֹם כִּפּוּר יֵחָתֵמוּן. כַּמָּה יַעַבְרוּן, וְכַמָּה יִבָּרֵאוּן. מִי יִחְיֶה, וּמִי יָמוּת.

מִי יֵעָנִי, וּמִי יֵעָשֵׁר: מִי יִשָּׁפֵל, וּמִי יָרוּם.

On Rosh Hashanah it is written, on Yom Kippur it is sealed. How many shall pass, how many come to be. Who shall live and who shall die.

Who shall be poor, who wealthy? Who shall be humbled and who exalted.

Who By Fire

And who by fire, who by water, Who in the sunshine, who in the night time, Who by high ordeal, who by common trial, Who in your merry merry month of May, Who by very slow decay, And who shall I say is calling?

And who in her lonely slip, who by barbiturate, Who in these realms of love, who by something blunt, And who by avalanche, who by powder, Who for his greed, who for his hunger, And who shall I say is calling?

And who by brave assent, who by accident, Who in solitude, who in this mirror, Who by his lady's command, who by his own hand, Who in mortal chains, who in power, And who shall I say is calling?

Pandemic

What if you thought of it as the Jews consider the Sabbath the most sacred of times? Cease from travel. Cease from buying and selling. Give up, just for now, on trying to make the world different than it is. Sing. Pray. Touch only those to whom you commit your life. Center down.

And when your soul has become still, reach out with your heart. Know that we are connected in ways that are terrifying and beautiful. (You could hardly deny it now.) Know that our lives are in one another's hands. Surely that has come clear.

Do not reach out your hands. Reach out your heart. Reach out your words. Reach out all the tendrils of compassion that move, invisibly, where we cannot touch.

Promise this world your love for better or for worse, in sickness and in health, so long as we all shall live.

> Rev Lynn Ungar, UUC March 11, 2020

The days will run together and stream into years as rivers freeze and burn and I ask myself and you: Which of our visions will claim us?

> Which will we claim? How will we go on living? How will we touch? What will we know?

> > What will we say to one another?

If It Be Your Will

If it be your will That I speak no more And my voice be still As it was before.

I will speak no more. I shall abide until I am spoken for If it be your will.

If it be your will That a voice be true From this broken hill I will sing to you.

2x: From this broken hill All your praises they shall ring If it be your will To let me sing. If it be your will If there is a choice Let the rivers fill Let the hills rejoice.

Let your mercy spill On all these burning hearts in hell If it be your will To make us well.

And draw us near And bind us tight All your children here In their rags of light.

In our rags of light. All dressed to kill And end this night If it be your will (2x). Words and Music: Leonard Cohen

Yom Kippur Afternoon

Our People Live עַם יִשְׂרָאֵל חַי

This afternoon we revisit 5783 years - according to ancient Jewish tradition that is - from the afternoon before the 1st Rosh Hashanah through this very day. And as we do, we walk through over 3,000 years of Jewish tradition: from Abraham to our own great period, as Judaism flourishes throughout the Diaspora - and the Children of Israel celebrate their magnificent existence in the Land of Israel, the birthplace of our people.

My Wrongs וְעַל כָּלְם

Am I there for those who need me? Giving of my heart completely Have I been caring and have I been patient? Have I forgiven without reservation? Do I take my days for granted? Treated others even-handed? And shown compassion to the homeless stranger? Have I been humble before my creator?

The Silver Platter מַגַשׁ הַכֶּסֶף

"אין מדינה ניתנת לעם על מגש הכסף "No nation is given to a people on a Silver Platter"

Chaim Weizzman, 1st President of the State of Israel

The earth grows still, as the fiery-lurid sky quiets slowly on the smoky horizon of the new nation. Heartsick, yet remarkably alive, a people rises to witness the long-awaited, awesome miracle.

As the ceremony draws near, the crowd stands in the moonlit night, enwrapped in both trembling and elation. From across the stage a young man and woman hesitantly march forward, on tiptoe, before the waiting nation.

Drably clad in battle gear, grimy and heavy-shod they approach in complete and utter stillness. Still dressed in the thread of combat, faces unwashed from the dust and grime of toilsome, aching days - and long, fire-filled nights.

Exhausted above and beyond, consecrated to a fatigued endurance, but wearing youth like the morning dew,______ the two come into view, silhouettes frozen in place, without any sign if they are among the living or the fallen.

The nation stares, betwixt with welling tears and wonder. Bewildered, they ask: "Who are you?" . . . And the silent two reply: "We are the Silver Platter upon which the Jewish state has been delivered to you."

And in speaking, the two fall into the shadows of the nation's destiny, as the rest is told in the unfolding Chronicles of the Generations of Israel.

My Hearts Yearnings הֶגְיוֹך לְבִי

Our hearts will always yearn for those we love who now live within us. Our poignant Yom Kippur Yizkor prayers and meditations are recited immediately preceding Neila: Yom Kippur's Closing Service recalling the ancient "reopening and closing of the ancient Ark of the Covenant and heaven's Eternal Gates."

"I used to be part of you, belong to you, the extension of your being ... but now the time is mine and alone I must be more than myself: your child has become your heir, has become you."

Menahem Rosensaft

So My Soul May Sing

What we hope, what we dream, Our dearest prayers, can't be broken. What we deny, what we discard, Our deepest fears, can't be spoken. But our love and our joy, with our hearts, can be woken... To You, to You, to You.

> Chorus קְמַעַן יְזַמֶּרְרָ כָבוֹד וְלֹא יִהֹם, יהוה אֱלֹהַי לְעוֹלָם אוֹדֶך

L'ma- an y'za-mer cha-vod v'lo yi-dom, (2x) A-do-nai E-lo-hai l'o-lam o-de-ka.

Let Your love, and Your joy, From Your heart, be my emotion. So my soul and my voice will rise up To be spoken... To You, to You, to You.

So the weight of these wrongs that I've done won't define me. While the pain of these sins that I recall won't confine me.

What we hope, what we dream, Our dearest prayers, can't be broken.

Illumine My Soul כִּי אַתָּה תָּאִיר נֵרִי

O God make my light burn bright. Eternal God will lighten my darkness.

The Holy One who is blessed said to me. Your light is in my hand and my light is in Your hand

The light of God is the hand, Your light is the Human Soul. To cause a light to burn continually.

The Holy One who is blessed said: If you illumine my light, I will illumine your light.

Neila: The Gates נִעִילָה

The Ark of the Covenant - containing Ten Divine Words given by God to Moses at Mount Sinai - was carried forty years through the wilderness. Finally, it came to rest in King Solomon's Holy Temple in Jerusalem.

As we heard earlier this Yom Kippur Afternoon, the Temple was rebuilt in the 3rd century and the High Priest would open the Gates. Entering the Inner Precincts and then the Ark itself, he would utter God's four-letter Holy Name (הנודה). And the Levites would sing:

Open O Gates! "שְׁאָר שְׁעָרִים!" At the moment the High Priest came out - and all Israel was purified the men and women standing in the Temple Courts would exclaim: "Blessed be Eternal's One's Holy Name forever and ever.!"

We recall that ritual during Neila: the Opening of the Gates of Heaven just as we open of our Ark before sunset late Yom Kippur Afternoon. As we proclaim the Oneness of our World and the Divine, we celebrate our own spiritual elevation during these Days of Awe.

The Havdalah Candles are lit, the Shofar is sounded one last time -, and we reenter our world with a new spirit.

"Open the Gates -be lifted up, O Everlasting Doors" Psalms 24:7

Leaving Mother Russia

They called me Anatole in prison I did lie. My little window looks out on a Russian sky. For nearly nine long years secluded and in pain: and all my people know the charges were a frame.

See my accuser standing in the hall - he points his finger at us all. You now must pay the penalty for the crime of daring to be free.

Chorus 1:

We are leaving Mother Russia: we have waited far too long. We are leaving Mother Russia: when they come for us, we'll be strong.

For all those centuries they called our land their home. They craved our fertile soil and saw it as their own. In countless armies our young boys have fought their wars. But never did they call us "friends," they only asked for more!

מחזור לימים נוראים

We fell in battle for the Czar; a hundred thousand died at Babi Yar. And yet no monument will mark their deaths, just here in Bucha, more slaughter yet.

Chorus 2:

We are leaving Mother Russia :we've held on so many years. We are leaving Mother Russia: , when they come for us, we'll be here.

Too many centuries we've feared them, thought we must. Yet so few of them were much stronger men than us. Still their iron curtain kept us within their reach. Now we've a vision of an everlasting peace.

My friends we know what weakness brings: another Stalin waiting in the wings! So stand up now and shout it to the sky: They may come for us again, but we'll never die!

Chorus 2:

We are leaving Mother Russia :we've held strong for many years. We are leaving Mother Russia: , when they come for us, we'll be here.

Chorus 1 (3x) :

We are leaving Mother Russia: we have waited far too long. We are leaving Mother Russia: when they come for us, we'll be strong.

How can we give thanks when we remember Treblinka? Only silence speaks loudly enough for our millions who were marched into the abyss.

We have been where we did not find You, O Hidden One! Yet even there, even there, our people sang:

- Ani Ma-amin: I believe in redemption. And they sang again: אני מעמין

זאָג נים קײנמאָל, אַז דו גײםם דעם לעצמן וועג Never say you walk the final road!

And even then, this deathless people was renewing itself, its life.

Whose faith is equal to this people's? Whose will to live? The storm ends. In the sky, a rainbow signals hope and new life. Again, and yet again, there is a song to sing.
